Will Either Construct Independent Line or Effect Arrangement With Some Existing Road.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, May 31.—Reports in railroad circles are to the effect that the Baltimore and Onlo will run into Norfolk soon, either by the construction of an independent line or by arrangement with some road with which traitic arrangements can be made. It has been known for some time that this system had eyes on this port and desired to secure local terminals. Nothing of a definite nature has yet been learned as to the plans of the road, but that there is foundation for the reports is generally believed here. It is pointed out that as a general port for fordign and other shipments handied over this system at present Norfolk would be superior to Baltimore and other points. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
